Experience the Fun and Community Spirit at the "Your Bad Effort Recycling Variety Show & Buffet" in New Orleans

New Orleans, LA. (May 12, 2025) — Get ready for an evening of laughter, creativity, and community at the highly anticipated "Your Bad Effort Recycling Variety Show & Buffet," taking place every other Saturday with a second show on May 17, 2025. Hosted in an intimate setting with tables set for ten. Our Living Room of Life celebrates the vibrant creator and crafting culture of New Orleans while promoting sustainability and the arts.

This one-of-a-kind experience invites attendees to enjoy a lively lineup of performances, including live music, comedic acts, and cultural showcases, all while engaging in the themes of recycling, upcycling, and creative reuse. Hosted by the energetic Mama Madera, with co-hosts from The Faubourg House, along with appearances from the NO LAW CHOIR sharing songs of recycling and repurposing landfills, the evening promises humor, connection, and fun interactions. Special appearances by local culture bearers sharing insights and wisdom through songs and show and tell.

This Saturday's show will welcome Big Chief David Montana of Wasitaw Nation introducing stories, songs, and discussions around building a new Masking suit for Mardi Gras.

The event also features tastings from smaller Black liquor and beverage brands to be showcased as Drink with T, and JeJavu Spirits and Mixology. In addition to entertainment, each show provides educational insights into sustainability, crafting, and the rich creator culture of the city.

"Our Living Room of Life represents the beauty and vibe that New Orleans fosters. A friendliness in new meetings and connections," said Madera Rogers-Henry. "We provide a welcoming environment perfect for celebrations of life, to birthday parties, graduations, and anything in between, making every gathering a memorable celebration of community, fun, and opportunity."

Join us for a night where joy, culture, and environmental consciousness come together. Whether you're a local or visiting, "Your Bad Effort Recycling Variety Show & Buffet" is a celebration you won't want to miss!

This fun-raiser supports a collaboration between Literacy Project International and its popular educational program The Recycle Challenge, and The Three Muses Faubough House which features a community center for locals & tourists alike, in the heart of Frenchmen Street.

The Recycle Challenge is dedicated to promoting awareness and education around transforming recyclable materials into captivating art, blending creativity with sustainability. By immersing ourselves in vibrant cultural expressions, we celebrate artistic innovation while honoring our commitment to environmental responsibility, inspiring communities to see waste as a valuable resource for artistic and ecological transformation.
